R. F. HOY, N. G.

B. H. BRISTOW,

SUBJECT TO THE DECISION OF THE

BRISTOW AND HAYES.

The spirit of the People is now more fully represented in Bristow and Hayes, in public affairs, than in the names of any other two men mentioned, as candidates for the two highest offices within the gift of the People. We do not disparage other men in giving expression to this opinion, for it is always repulsive to us to even think of a very common process of tearing the good names of other men to pieces in order to build the foundation for some favorite to stand on. We have no favorites that demand this making a fulcrum of other men's faults in order to pry their qualities up to an elevation sufficient, so that they can be seen above ground. If men, in themselves, are not good enough timber to be made useful, even as Presidents and Vice Presidents, they are good for nothing for the uses wanted. At any rate, their soundness is made no more sound by proving the existence of rottenness in others. We can not be mistaken in this opinion. With Mr. Bristow as the Republican candidate for the Presidency, and Mr. Hayes as the candidate on the same ticket for the Vice Presidency, we could sweep the country clean, much as we did with General Harrison in 1840. Indeed it will be found that the temper of the people bear a strong comparison now with that which shook the country, "as the wind shakes the forest leaves," thirty-six years ago. There may be Republicans that would oppose Mr. Bristow's nomination. There were prominent Whigs who opposed Gen. Harrison, Mr. Webster and Mr. Clay among them. But when the day of election came, even they found themselves standing almost alone.

Some may say that both these men, if nominated by the Republican National Convention, would want the first place on the ticket, and that neither would consent to occupy the second place. Then, we reply, neither of them is fit for either place. If Mr. Hayes is not qualified to fill the Presidential chair, he must not be nominated for the Vice Presidential chair. So of Mr. Bristow. For three times have the Whig and Republican parties committed the grave mistake of filling the Vice Presidential chair with men who proved their inferiority for the occasions by their actions: John Tyler, Millard Fillmore and Andrew Johnson. Mr. Webster, in refusing to be nominated for the Vice Presidency in 1840, on the Harrison ticket, lost the only chance he ever had in the world to be the President of the United States for three years and eleven months at least. He felt himself so far superior to one of the purest and noblest patriots that ever lived, Gen. Wm. H. Harrison, that he could not bring his loftiness down to the humiliation of being voted for by the most generous, sympathetic, kindly-disposed and patriotic spirit that ever flowed in a stream as broad and as wide as the whole country—that of the Whig party in the Presidential campaign of 1840. As it afterwards proved, this blunder of Mr. Webster, if not a crime, was a great misfortune to the country. Can the Republican party afford to dare Providence by nominating an inferior man for the Vice Presidency for the fourth time? A citizen should feel it to be his duty to occupy any place in the Government to which the People may call him, as a general rule to govern his actions, though there may be exceptions.

We do not say that none other than these two men—Bristow and Hayes—can be elected to the above offices. There may be many others, but we express the belief, that they are the strongest.

No white man ever saw so much snow as there is now to be found in the Sierras.

A New York dispatch of March 26 says:

The Republican State Convention and George William Curtis' demonstration thereat constitute the sensation of the week. Conkling's specific endorsement, under attendant circumstances, clearly impairs rather than improves his chances. Outside of limited circles of personal and office-holding friends few judicious thinkers profess to believe his nomination possible. Many who sustained him in the Convention privately confess this, but urge that concentration upon him is necessary to secure power at Cincinnati to bargain for Congressman Wheeler's nomination to the Vice-Presidency, when Conkling's defeat for the first place becomes inevitable. Curtis will not be alone at Cincinnati in repudiating Conkling, for the delegates do not acknowledge any binding force in the mild request of the Convention in Conkling's behalf. An influential portion of the Republican country press joins the New York Times in the same position on Curtis' views, so distinctly representative of the sentiment controlling the Republican balance of power of the Empire State, and says he should be rightly understood. His opposition to Conkling does not spring from personal antagonism, nor is it in the interest of any other candidate. He is not committed to Blaine, as asserted, but is cautious and uncertain as to whose nomination will prove the wisest, alike for the country and the success of Republican principles. Neither has he the least thought of leading any independent bolt from Republicanism like that of the Liberals four years ago. His course is governed solely by considerations of sound public and party policy, and not by personal preferences. He believes New York will be the decisive battle-field of the Presidential campaign, and that Conkling can not carry the State if nominated. Curtis, without disparaging the President's motives, recognizes the un wisdom of so much of his administration as must force to decisive explanations any candidate so closely and continuously identified as Conkling is with Grant. Again, Conkling is notoriously unpopular, because his imperious, overbearing manner repels instead of attracts friends. His personal purity and great mental abilities are conceded, but are tarnished by defects of temperament which make him inconsiderate and unjust, and therefore unwise; for this reason there is little heart in his support, even among those who carried the Convention for him. They do not expect to nominate him, nor was the Syracuse Convention truly a representative body. It does not represent the majority of those whose votes are essential to success, because it was largely chosen through unfair official interference and influence, such as nearly succeeded in the attempt to prevent Curtis' election as delegate to Syracuse. For this reason, and because the objections to Conkling are based on conscientious views of policy, and because the issue before the Convention was not one of personal preference, the minority feel under no obligation to be governed by the majority's vote decision. Again, it is known Conkling's nomination would disaffect the Liberals, who resent his manner of riding over them in the old Fenton campaign, even although they have acknowledged their error by returning to the Republican fold. Worst of all, Conkling could not command the Independent voters of Republican tendencies who recognize the party shibboleth, and whose numbers never were so great as now. For such reasons Curtis and his followers honestly believe Conkling's nomination would not meet with success, and they will oppose it to the end. Even if so disposed, Curtis could not change this situation, and his course is clear and unequivocal. If he were less selfish, less self-sacrificing, his friends could bargain for a nomination that would inevitably make him our next Governor, in return for the support of Conkling at Cincinnati; but none who know him well and know his hardihood would propose it. Without the earnest and unanimous support of the New York delegation, Conkling's nomination may be considered hopeless.

It is insignificant that among party leaders assembled at Syracuse your correspondent could scarcely hear a whisper in favor of either Bristow or Charles Francis Adams, notwithstanding their popularity. It is supposed they have a strong spontaneous backing in the country at large. At present those who run the machine appear divided hereabouts between Morton and Blaine, with a preponderance apparently for the latter, because of his supposed greater soundness on the financial question.

CINCINNATI, March 25. The Gazette declares that no rational persons think Conkling could carry New York. No man can remember when in Grant's administration Conkling's voice was raised against any official abuse. All can remember how, like a cur, he barked at Republicans who have done this. He played the sycophant to Grant; ostentatiously advocated the third term, that he might receive a reversion of Grant's supporters and influence in the nominating convention. He represents every degrading element in the present administration, and hostility to every reforming element. No one thinks his election possible, if he were nominated. No one thinks his nomination probable.

The grade for sidewalks, as established by the City Surveyor of Virginia, is not being very strictly regarded. Citizens are constructing their walks to suit themselves, and unless the matter is attended to the old style of stair-steps and ladders will be as prominent a feature of that city as it ever was.

It is rumored that the prospects are favorable for the speedy adjustment of the differences existing between the Miners' Union and the managers of the mining companies at Ruby Hill.

CHINESE IMMIGRATION.

An Address to the People of the Pacific Coast Issued from San Francisco.

The Special Committee of Twelve to consider the subject of Chinese immigration was held on Saturday evening last at the rooms of the Board of Supervisors. Sub-committees were appointed, it was decided to hold a mass meeting next Saturday, and the following address to the people of the Pacific Coast was adopted:

To the People of the Pacific Coast: The Committee appointed by the public authorities of the city of San Francisco, to take into consideration the evil of Chinese immigration and matters of relief pertinent thereto, believe that every substantial interest of the people of the Pacific Coast is jeopardized by that unrestricted immigration; that the time is approaching when, if the evil continues unchecked, they will find themselves driven from their vocations and thrust from their firesides by the increasing immigration flowing from China; that the evil has already grown to such proportions as to endanger the public peace and to imperil the security of life and property; and that, steadily growing to more and more alarming proportions, the evil even threatens not only the peace and prosperity of the Pacific Coast, but, ultimately, the best interests of the country. The Committee also appreciate that the only adequate relief for this vast and overshadowing evil is to be had through the interposition of the National Government, brought about by such earnest expression of public opinion from all parts of the coast, as will carry to Washington a conviction of the imperative necessity of the relief demanded.

The Committee, therefore, in discharge of the duties committed to them, urgently recommend that the people in every town, village and hamlet, throughout the coast, move in co-operation in their respective districts, to give early expression of their feelings on this subject, by the passage of suitable resolutions, to be forwarded without delay to this Committee.

Los Angeles has a forest company, organized for the purpose of growing eucalyptus.

The Post of San Francisco one day last week informed its readers that it was a clerk in the office of Wells, Fargo & Co., San Francisco, who first discovered that trade-dollars made at the Carson Mint were under weight. The only trade-dollar made at the Carson Mint which are not perfect in every respect are those which by fire or acid have been damaged since being put in circulation. That would happen, of course, to money coined at any other Mint the same way. Every dollar coined at the Carson Mint and distributed through the State is a direct loss to Wells, Fargo & Co. Stanford & Co. own a controlling interest in Wells, Fargo & Co., and by a sort of contract and finance ledger remain they have fixed things so that the railroad will not receive bullion as freight even at the owner's risk, the design being to force everything through Wells, Fargo & Co.'s. Of course if no money were coined at Carson, the express company would carry all the bullion to San Francisco and bring back all the coin necessary to carry on the trade of Nevada. It is because of this that the clerk in Wells, Fargo's office in San Francisco was so vigilant as to find a few defective trade-dollars which had been blackened in the Virginia City fire, and because of this same express, helped by the Eastern express companies, that so desperate an attempt has been made to defeat any appropriation for the Carson Mint at this session of Congress.—Va. Enterprise.

FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS REWARD.—Wells, Fargo & Co. offer a reward of $500 each, and one-fourth of the treasure recovered for the arrest and conviction of one or all of the three men engaged in the robbery of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express of eight bars of bullion, on the 14th instant, about twenty miles west of Belleville, Esmeralda county, Nevada, on the road to Aurora. The description of the robbers, as near as can be given, is as follows, viz: The leader appeared to be an American, about five feet, nine inches in height, spare built; the other two, supposed to be Mexicans, shorter and smaller. Were disguised with blue flannel masks, which was bound with white around the eye holes and bottom.

A NEW METHODIST CHURCH.—The Methodist Episcopal Church Society will this week commence the erection of a church building on the northeast corner of Taylor and Union streets, and will have it finished by the 1st of July next. It will be called the Centennial Methodist Episcopal Church. The dimensions of the auditorium will be 40x60 feet, and it will seat 400 people. Gray & Reid will be the architects, and Swain, Bradley & Co. are to furnish the lumber. The cost, exclusive of gas fixtures, will be $12,000.—Va. Chronicle of Monday.

SULPHUR FROM STEAMBOAT.—Some splendid specimens of crystallized sulphur were brought in from Steamboat Springs on Saturday. One chunk is to be seen at the Magnolia Saloon, County building, and the other at Gibson & Denley's Sazarnac Saloon, corner of Carson and Proctor streets. The specimens are beautiful to look at, and will make fine cabinet ornaments.—Carson Tribune.

THE WOODVILLE-JUSTICE AFFAIR.—Contrary to general belief, says the Gold Hill News of Monday, there is no anticipation of trouble between the people of the Woodville and Justice mines. It is true they have not settled the matter of their indebtedness, and both companies keep a watch over their machinery and property, but there is at present no prospect of a collision.

The Truckee millmen have made affidavits that it will cost them $500,000 the first and $50,000 each succeeding year to remove the sawdust from their mills if the Legislature prohibits the emptying of that article into the river.

A Pleasant Change.—Will T. Frank's drug store is a perfect little Paradise. The changes lately made seem to have been wrought as with the hand of a genius. The arrangement of the cases, of new and beautiful vases and highly colored bottles, is a model of neatness, each forming a pleasing contrast with the other. The drugs and medicines, handsome toilet sets, and other articles, are displayed to the very best advantage. Frank says he will have the prettiest store in the town.

Taxes.—The Board of Commissioners of Eureka county have made the tax levy for the present fiscal year. The tax aggregates $2 55 on each $100, a reduction upon the rates of last year of 20 cents. The Board of Commissioners of Washoe will meet next Monday and make our rate. It will be 1 1/2 or 1 1/4, a reduction of one dollar and a quarter from last year, and will be a great deal less than any other county in the State.

The following transfers of real estate have been made during the month of March.

The real estate market has not been very lively lately, owing to the high prices asked by holders. We hardly think their prices unreasonable:

Contract and Finance Co. to Stephen Connor—Six acres in Western Addition, consideration $500.

Chas Crocker to Stephen Connor—Land in Western Addition, consideration $3,000.

John McGinley to Mrs. Mary McGinley—The Reno Opera House building and land, consideration $1, love and affection.

W. J. Marsh and wife to J. Stiner and M. J. Turney—41 acres near Reno, consideration $1,040.

John B. Hereford to Virginia and Gold Hill Water Co.—The Sides' ranch in Washoe Valley, consideration $10,000.

O. W. Ayer and wife to Abbie E. Byrne—Lot in Western Addition, consideration $300.

Chas. Crocker to S. Beemer—Tract in Western Addition, consideration $425.

C. T. Bender to B. F. Leete—Lot in Western Addition for $150.

Smith J. Hill to S. M. Oaks—Undivided half of two lots on Virginia street, corner of Second, consideration $1,500.

John F. Stone and wife to R. H. Crocker and Phil Reese—The Stone ranch at Glendale. Consideration, $11,000.

Same to R. H. Crocker—One-half Bad Rock ranch for $4,500.

G. B. Morello to Pietro Chielino—One-half of 80 acres near Steamboat for $2,000.

C. A. Richardson to Mrs. R. H. Hickman—Two lots in Western Addition for $550.

C. T. Bender to Mrs. R. H. Hickman—Two lots in Western Addition for $550.

D. F. Moony to B. B. Norton—"China Gardens." Consideration, $500.

D. F. Moony to Barnett Bros.—House and lots in Dunne's North Addition for $2,000.

Mrs. R. H. Hickman to Orrin Ross and R. H. Leigh—The N. L. Brown ranch at Glendale, for $2,900.

H. H. Mason to James Carson—The old Ben Loughton sheep ranch (possession claim) for $100.

D. F. Moony to R. Smith—House and lots on Centre street, for $500.

Official Visit.—Grand Master D. O. Adkinson, accompanied by Grand Secretary F. V. Drake, will pay an official visit to Truckee Lodge, No. 14. I. O. O. F., this evening. The officers and members of Reno Lodge, No. 19, will also visit their sister lodge at the same time, attending in a body. The occasion will be improved by the Odd Fellows to strengthen and sustain their glorious principles.

Struck It Big.—We have been told that a man by the name of Jackson has secured State title to that portion of section 36, on which stands the English mill. Nosing around he found they had never acquired any title, so he made application and report says got away with it. If he can hold it he has made a good buy.

SEEDS.—Congressman Woodburn has forwarded to his constituents in this county several varieties of seeds, obtained from the Department of Agriculture. A large lot was sent to Alfalfa Grange, of Reno; some to the Journal, and others. This fact will be highly appreciated by Mr. Woodburn's Nevada friends.

ARRIVING.—Beck & Co's new goods are arriving, and the clerks are busy checking off. The store will be open for business in about a week. The Co. is composed of B. B. Norton and P. W. Dwelly.

ASSISTANT.—Will T. Frank has engaged the services of Mr. Mitchell, of Boston, to aid him in the preparation and compounding of prescriptions. Mr. Mitchell is a thorough druggist.

SALT.—Manning & Duck have just received a car load of coarse and fine Liverpool salt. They are prepared to supply the demand.

GLOVES.—Jaquish & Co. display in their show window a lot of gloves of their own make. They are a splendid article.

Summary of Important Telegrams.

Washington News in General.

WASHINGTON, March 27. The Senate Committee on Pacific Railroads to-day discussed the Texas Pacific bill and other propositions in regard to the construction of the trans-continental railroad on or near the thirty-second parallel, but arrived at no conclusion and postponed further consideration of the whole project for two weeks.

The Supreme Court to-day decided that the Federal election law under which certain white parties were indicted for interfering with the exercise of the suffrages of colored voters is unconstitutional and void. It is understood that the court will to-day decide that the Enforcement act is unconstitutional, thus affirming the opinion of Justice Bradley in the court below.

Colonel New has withheld for the present his resignation as the United States Treasurer at the request of the President and Secretary Bristow. The Committee on Expenditures in the War Department held a meeting to-day. General Custer is, among other witnesses, summoned to appear before that committee.

Favorable Reports from Black Hills. CHICAGO, March 27.

A Chicago reporter yesterday interviewed parties at Sioux City just out of the Black Hills. They speak in the highest terms of the country, not only as a region rich in mineral resources but of agricultural advantages, pine timber and general adaptability to stock raising. They brought back some very rich specimens of gold, the finest of which were samples from a claim worked by Montana men who went at their business systematically and have worked it successfully. Up to the time the parties left there miners had taken out $2,000, averaging $40 to $50 per week during the time they had been engaged. This is said to be the only claim in the Hills, as yet, which has been properly opened and thoroughly worked. They went down eighteen feet before they struck bed rock.

Shipwreck in the South Pacific—Great Suffering—Loss of Life—Rescued.

LONDON, March 27.

The following details of the loss of the emigrant ship Strathmore, from this port for New Orleans, has been received: The Strathmore struck some rocks among the Crosette group of islands in the South Pacific, on the 1st day of July, at half-past four in the morning, and was wrecked immediately. Forty-four persons were drowned. The survivors saved nothing whatever, and were upon the rock for six months, subsisting on sea birds and their eggs. When they were rescued they were much emaciated, and almost naked. Five had died from exposure and want. The Captain of the American whaler, Young Phoenix, rescued them, supplied them with clothing and treated them with great kindness.

The Emperor and Empress of Brazil Coming.

New York, March 27.

A special from Rio Janeiro says the steamship Hevelins, in which the Emperor and Empress of Brazil are coming to this country, while steaming out of the harbor of Rio Janeiro yesterday, came in collision with a Brazilian transport. The Hevelins, being uninjured, proceeded on her voyage. The mishap for a time caused great excitement.

The Emperor of Brazil will not touch at Bahia on account of quarantine existing there. He will, however, touch at Pernambuco and Para.

Fears of an Overflow at Memphis.

MEMPHIS, March 27.

There is great alarm here of a disastrous overflow of the river. It is now within nine inches of the danger line, and rising steadily. At Devil's Elbow, forty miles above here, it cut through the neck yesterday, shortening the river some fifteen or twenty miles. A steady rain is falling this morning.

Tour of Queen Victoria.

LONDON, March 27.

Queen Victoria and Princess Beatrice leave Windsor this afternoon for Portsmouth. They go to Cherbourg tomorrow in the yacht Victoria and Albert. General Derby, as Secretary of State, will accompany Her Majesty throughout the tour.

COMMITTED TO WOODBRIDGE.—N. A. Merrill and Fred Gall were yesterday examined by Drs. Bishop and Dawson, and pronounced insane, and Judge Wright ordered them to be taken the Insane Asylum at Woodbridge. Merrill's hallucination consists in imagining himself in confinement, and he is too dangerous to be at large in that he has a suicidal desire and a disposition to injure others. Gall has a desire toward incendiarism. They were both taken below last night.

TRAVEL between Western Nevada and San Francisco is now unusually lively. The cars are crowded in both directions. It is likely that two or more sleepers, besides the ordinary cars, will be required on the Virginia & Truckee daily during the coming summer.

APPLICATION.—Edwin A. Vesey has made application to the District Court for letters of administration of the estate of his father, Horace M. Vesey. April 5th is the time set for hearing.

NEW COMER.—Mr. L. L. Crockett, of Dayton, was in town yesterday. This gentleman owns some real estate here, and thinks some of making Reno his home.

New potatoes have made their appearance in our markets. Also bananas.
